SCOPE AND AIM

The Pharmaceutical Sciences World Congress 2007 (PSWC 2007, 22-25 April, Amsterdam, The Netherlands) is pleased to offer a pre-satellite symposium dedicated to the next generation of pharmaceutical scientists. Doctorate students and postdoctorate fellows from all over the world will convene in Amsterdam to exchange ideas and discuss the latest developments in pharmaceutical sciences, while enjoying all that this city in the heart of Europe has to offer.

During the one and a half day event, young scientists will present lectures in parallel sessions on such topics as: Target Discovery/Medicinal Chemistry, Pharmacokinetics / Pharmacodynamics, Drug Delivery, Pharmaceutical Analysis / Bioanalysis / Quality Assurance / Regulatory Affairs, Clinical Pharmacy / Pharmacoepidemiology and Toxicology / Safety. In addition, poster presentations will be held on the latest research findings in all fields of pharmaceutical sciences. The students/postdoctoral fellows will have the opportunity to present their work during "poster walks".

In each scientific section, the most outstanding poster presentation will be honored with a "Young Investigator Award". Keynote lecturers in all areas will give comprehensive overviews on the current developments in their particular fields.

This pre-satellite meeting will give young pharmaceutical scientists the unique opportunity to network and share professional experiences before the start of the 3rd Pharmaceutical Sciences World Congress on 22 April, to which they are also invited to register for and attend.

Amsterdam is one of the most colorful cities in the world and particularly famous for its unique architecture and canals. As the city is home to world renowned flower markets, art museums (Rembrandt, Van Gogh) and characteristic Dutch culture while at the same time absorbing visitors into a cosmopolitan environment, the Dutch capital has something to offer all who visit.

Amsterdam is an international hub, and is easily accessible from all corners of the world by car, bus, train and air. Information on low cost accommodation will be provided.

On behalf of the organising committee, we look forward to welcoming you to the Young Pharmaceutical Scientists Meeting and the 3rd Pharmaceutical Sciences World Congress in 2007.
